The Internet Changes Everything.

The Internet Society believes that the Internet has the power to change lives.

Internet Society 2017 Objectives

For 2017 we have set four main Objectives. Two Objectives continue themes established last year around trust and access, and two focus on strengthening the Internet Society and the Internet Engineering Task Force (IETF). Our Objectives for 2017 are to:

- Increase trust in the Internet to deliver its full benefit;

- Connect the unconnected to enable economic, social, and human development;

- Strengthen the Internet Society to become a more effective voice in the world; and

- Strengthen the IETF to sustain a core element of the Internet's foundation and future.

Beyond the Net.

Addresses the changing needs of the Internet Society Chapters and reinforces the organisation's commitment to development.

Activities

Introducing the activities of ISOC@25.

Extending our identity across the globe

In 2017 we have an unprecedented opportunity to build awareness and support for our mission.

| Empowering Chapters and Members	ISOC@25	25 under 25	Internet Hall of Fame
Providing our community with tools to promote messaging and build local relationships.	InterCommunity returns in 2017 with a new focus, streamlined format, and presentation of the Internet Hall of Fame.	Bringing the next generation of Internet Leaders to the fore is vital to advancing our mission.	Following an extensive review, we will launch the refreshed Internet Hall of Fame in 2017 as part of ISOC@25.

To help differentiate between Chapters and Special Interest Groups (SIG) each has its own version of the Internet Society logo.

Chapter and SIG logos are available for download. Please contact identity@isoc.org for more information.
